Itineraries

Phuoc Tich - Tam Giang Full Day Tour

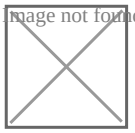

Departing from Hue in the morning, it will take one hour to get to the village. Upon arrival, we walk or bicycle around the village to visit the ancient houses, traditional handicrafts such as rice flour making, hand-made pottery (nowadays, the production has not been as frequent as it was in the past but we can help you learn more, by asking the artisan to talk about its history.

Have lunch at a cozy local home (Nha Ruong) served with homegrown ingredients. With the help of our guide, he will help you to learn more about Vietnamese's village culture with your host.
Take a break and walk around the village to view the charming scenery, communal houses, river wharfs, and Cham culture vestiges that remain. Meet and talk with locals. The village facilitator and our guide will help you to know more about the village as well as O Lau River's geographic location. The river is one of the three larger rivers in Hue that lead to Tam Giang Lagoon. The Lagoon is one of the biggest one in the Southeast Asia region. Boating on the river can be arranged at a surcharge of US $10 for one local boat.
End of the program and driving back to Hue.

Beautiful

11 Apr 2019

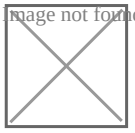

Biking on small roads in Phuoc Tich old village was so wonderful. This village is a typical traditional village in Vietnam, right?- our guide said that. For me, old wooden houses are beautiful, landscapes are beautiful and local people are beautiful too. A local lady invited me a cup of green tea, very nice!

Exotic nature!

Spectacular lagoon! Yes we had finished a tour in Tam Giang, it caught my heart totally! Sunrise here was so beautiful and people here were friendly as well.

Peaceful countryside!

Peaceful countryside! it was so different from Poland countryside, but beautiful as well. I amazed with the unique bridge with roof. If I remember right, it's called Thanh Toan. Our guide was a young Hue girl, very cute and nice.

Worth a visit

Don't miss a tour to the countryside. We both traveled to Tam Giang and Phuoc Tich in the excursion. The landscapes here are so amazing. Local released the nets on the lagoon and it looked so peaceful for me!

Worth a try!
